"BARE BONES BUDGET" has been the term used to describe Governor Pat Brown's recommendation for state spending this year.

That is all well and good except that little tib-bits are instantly being added which tend to sort of take the bareness off the bones.

A case in point was developed last week in Sacramento when there was a flurry of anti-cigarette legislation that will cost considerable dough.

One bill calls for a cigarette control clinic to help smokers to end the habit and includes a "pilot" withdrawal center. Another bill calls for printed warnings on cigarette packages.

Despite the medical reports on the subject of tobacco, we fail to see any reason for such clinics and control centers financed by taxpayers.

Smoking or not smoking, in our opinion, is strictly a personal matter.

And should remain thataway.

EACH YEAR during the Lenton season which ends on Easter Sunday, we give up smoking. We have been relatively successful in this over the years, although on most Easters we immediately light up again.

By the time the next Ash Wednesday rolls around we have a real struggle in laying off the weeds.

To correct the impression that our halo is showing, we hastily add that perhaps originally the principle of Lent was involved. But in later years our giving up smoking was simply to see if we could do it.

And, we also must admit, that there was an added impetus in recent years because of the adverse publicity with respect to cigarette puffing.

This year we modified our methods to a degree. We quit cigarettes only. So with a clear(?) conscience we began to puff spasmodically on small cigars, especially on the golf course.

AT FIRST we limited our cigar-smoking to the golf course but later we broadened our field to take in the most hectic period of the week for us, just before press time.

Why we are making such a big puff about this smoking bit this week is that we have found that by shifting to cigars on a sort of catch-as-catch-can basis, we have not missed cigarettes as much this year as in previous years. And we just may not go back to them.

Although we have smoked more cigars lately than ever before in our life, we still are not fond of them.

Coincidentally just recently we received a brochure in the mail suggesting that we

JC bond issue fails

On Tuesday, for the second time in little more than a year, voters in the West Valley Junior College failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority to a bond issue for the district.

According to unofficial reports at press time, a bare majority of 53.6% favored the $17.8 million bond issue to construct a campus in Saratoga.

Interest in the bond issue was instrumental in causing a record-breaking turnout at the polls. And the campaign was a bitter one.

Voters, proving their inconsistency again, swept the incumbent trustees back into office.

Bruce Allen, board chairman, made the following statement:

"The reelection of the West Valley College trustees and the majority vote in support of the bonds is an expression of public support for the college and its program which is most gratifying.

"But financing for our school buildings has been denied because of a determined campaign of misrepresentation. The required two-thirds vote of local bonds is difficult to get even where there is no opposition.

"The college must continue. We have classes today and many more students to come. Decisions as to future steps will require calm deliberation after careful analysis of the complete election returns and study of various alternatives."

Unification issue loses

Unification of the Campbell Union High School District was rejected by the voters of the district on Tuesday. Only one of the elementary districts concerned favored it.

Of the five elementary districts (Campbell, Cambrian, Moreland, Burbank, Union) that comprise the Campbell Union High School District, Moreland was the only one to vote for unification.

Complete unofficial returns for Moreland on the issue were 2030 for unification and 1783 opposed.

Burbank was the first district to complete counting and the vote there was 70 for unification to 79 against. Cambrian swamped the issue by 2125 to 694. The vote in Union was 2124 against to 1172 for it.

The heaviest vote in history for any school election was recorded Tuesday. Several precincts in the Campbell district did not finish counting ballots until late this morning. Incomplete reports, however, showed that unification would lose by a wide margin.

Incumbents retain posts

Incumbent trustees in the school districts in the Campbell area were all given a vote of confidence on Tuesday by being retained in office.

In the Campbell Union High School District where there were three vacancies and only two incumbents running, a royal battle developed for the third spot.

William Lloyd, long-time board member, led the field with a huge vote, followed by Vernon Rutlen. At press time, incomplete returns indicated that Mrs. Dorothy Goble would make her small margin stand up for the third position, although she was being closely pressed by Granville Basye and Clovis Mirassou.

The incumbent West Valley Junior College District trustees, Bruce Allen, Dr. Ed Browne and Jack Armstrong, were swept back into office, although the bond issue they supported was defeated.

In Moreland, Frederick C. Noe, Jr., Richard H. Penrose and Eugene Riordan, the incumbents easily won reelection. In Campbell Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, John M. Merriell and Howard Guilbert were reelected.

Jack Farnham, the lone incumbent, led the field in Cambrian. Winning the two other seats were Mrs. Virginia Grewohl and Donn P. McVeigh.

Old Settlers celebration

Donkey baseball game features annual event

As part of the festivities of the 73rd annual Old Settlers' Celebration (May 13-16) sponsored by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, the second annual donkey baseball game between city employees and C. of C. members will take place on Saturday, May 15.

The game will be played at the West Valley College playing field. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

Last year the Chamber of Commerce galloped off with the "Donkey Plaque" and the city employees are determined this year to get revenge.

The official winner

MUSIC BEFORE THE GAME--"The Unrelated Singers", Jim Fletcher and Tom Holwerda, with guitar, will entertain Saturday, May 15 with folk songs before the opening of the second annual donkey baseball game scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the playing field of the West Valley College. The game is part of the 73rd annual Old Settlers' Celebration. Campbell City employees will play members of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

Moist contents fail to dampen spirit of cornerstone unlaying ceremony

A unique chapter in Campbell's history was recorded on Monday, April 19, when the first cornerstone unlaying ceremony of the community was held in the auditorium of the old Campbell Grammar School now occupied by West Valley College.

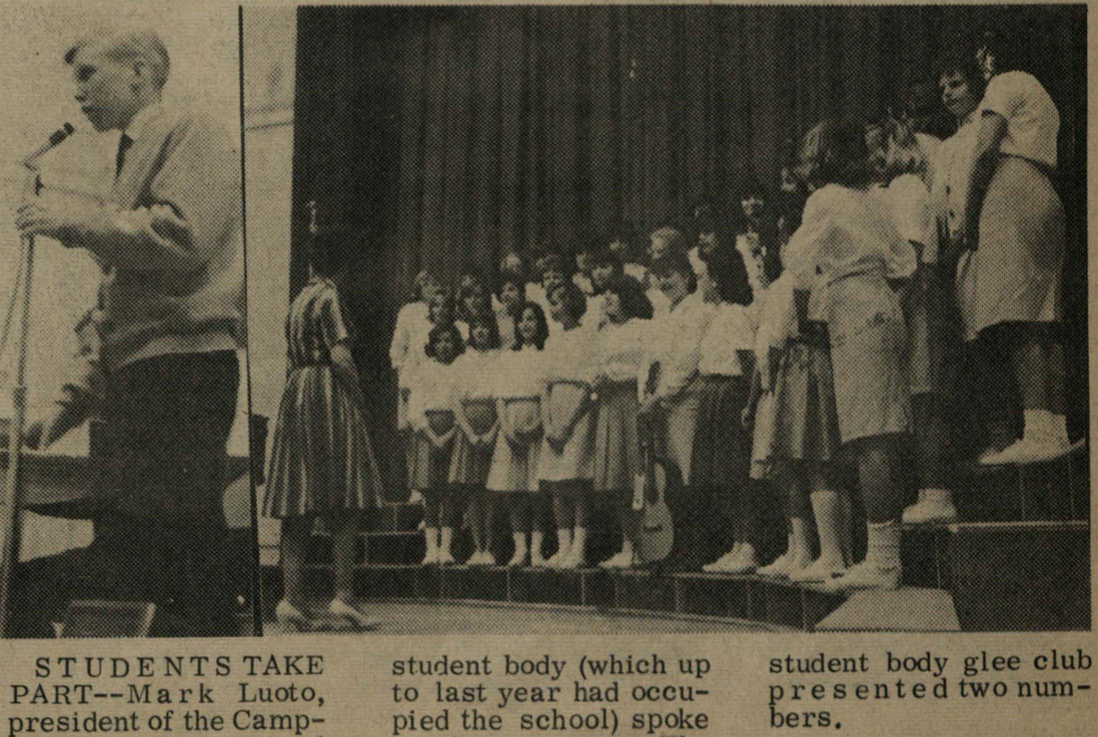
The program had been moved inside because of inclement weather. In addition, a preliminary check had revealed that the contents of the "casket" embedded in the cornerstone of the school on June 10, 1922 had become water-soaked over the 43 years.

More details and pictures of the ceremony appear on page 11 in this issue.

GRANDSON---Adelbert Campbell, descendant of the town's founder, views empty hole in cornerstone after casket with its water-logged contents have been removed.

ON DISPLAY- Crowd peers at water-logged contents found in the cornerstone. During the past 43 years water had seeped into the box.

INTERESTED--Left to right, Adelbert Campbell, grandson of the founder of the community; Mayor Charles Rose; Superintendent William C. Henley; Robert Brydon, West Valley College trustee and Mrs. Dorothy Royce, long-time principal of the school. The casket of the cornerstone is held by Rose and Henley.



STUDENTS TAKE PART--Mark Luoto, president of the Campbell Grammar School student body (which up to last year had occupied the school) spoke at the ceremony. The student body glee club presented two numbers.

Editorial

A common objective

Street improvement and maintenance are important to any community. As a matter of fact, most communities are rated or judged, rightly or wrongly, by the conditions of the streets.

In an explosive growth area such as Campbell a city faces the never-ending task of maintaining and improving its street system for its citizens and taxpayers.

In addition, cities such as Campbell face the unenviable and expensive task of financing and cooperating in the development, improvement and maintaining of so-called major thoroughfares mainly for the use of motorists going through the community.

Granted that a city receives a tremendous financial help from the state through the allocation of the gasoline tax funds, the fact still remains that a city must be constantly on guard to see that local, county and state funds are used properly in this mobile age.

It is a herculan task. Any city administration has its work cut out just keeping abreast of the ever-changing situation.

Although the city administration, through its staff and council, have the greatest responsibility in the establishing of policies pertaining to streets, the need for knowing the attitude of the citizenry and the business people of the community is also obvious.

Therefore, we feel that the Chamber of Commerce, through its highway relations committee, can render an extremely useful purpose in advising the city administration and recommending a priority list in this field.

Under the energetic leadership of Ted Regas, chairman of this important committee, the Chamber of Commerce is taking an active interest in this area.

BUT we must add a note of caution.

There must be unity in the presentation of street needs for this community.

Otherwise there is the danger that the city administration and the Chamber of Commerce will be flying off in different directions. This would place this city in a ridiculous position on the outside.

We commend Regas and his group for their interest in the problems. But we sincerely believe that there is a crying need for coordination and cooperation.

Of necessity, the C. of C. must serve in a recommending and advisory capacity or the tail begins to wag the dog.

Campbell cannot afford to present divergent opinions as to what is needed to higher authorities. That would be one sure way of losing out altogether.

The situation here can be compared to a closely-knit family in which brothers and sisters fight like the dickens within the confines of their home. But, by golly, they are united as far as the outside is concerned. And that's the way it should be.

At the present time, there is much stirring in official circles about the future of the San Tomas Expressway. One of the headaches that is foreseen will be what type of intersection that will be needed eventually when the traffic reaches its anticipated peak.

It is a complicated problem at its best. If grade separations are needed at Hamilton and Campbell Avenues, for example, which streets should be elevated? The city and the C. of C. apparently are agreed that San Tomas should be up in the air. We wholeheartedly concur.

That then is a situation where it is easy to find a common denominator. But there are other areas in which the C. of C. and the city must find the common ground on which to stage the battle. There must be a meeting of the minds.

Divide and conquer is an age-old adage.

Let's not have such a development transpire in Campbell. The objective of all concerned should be the same.

Stolen car recovered

A 17-year old Campbell youth was arrested and placed in Juvenile Hall by Campbell Police after he was apprehended at 3 a.m. on April 18 driving a stolen car. Officer Larry Newland reported the vehicle, a 1962 Pontiac, belonged to Billy Armstrong, of 104 N. Central Ave. and was taken from a carport at the Saliccia Apartments, 760 E. Campbell Ave., where Armstrong had left it for only ten minutes.

The youth was charged with auto theft, violation of curfew, driving without a license.

RAIN DROPS!

During the past week, .26 inches of rain fell in Campbell, according to the Campbell Water Co. gauge. The total for the season to date is 15.60 inches compared to 10.57 inches at this time last year.

Easter egg winners

Top winners in the Chamber of Commerce Easter egg hunt last Saturday held at Campbell Park in the age six and over group was Randy Brown and Joe Murabito.

Tiny tot winners were Kristine Killmeyer and Mark Horn. Rip Schleeter was general chairman assisted by Mrs. Glenn Stoops and Mrs. Sally Howe.

could buy 50 of a certain type of cigars and have our name imprinted on the bands.

Now while we may have found a method to giving up cigarettes an easier task, we don't think we are ready for this band bit.

But what sort of intrigued us was that we don't recall ever before getting such an invitation while we were a cigarette smoker.

CHANGING TIRES on these modern cars by using that horrible bumper jack is something we have done in a pinch a number of times. We try desperately to avoid it.

We are not of a mechanical bent and getting that bumper-jack in position and operating is about as far as we can go in that line.

BILL MEANS, of the Campbell Drugs, on the other hand, had the pleasure(?) of using one of those bumper-jack monstrosities until he assisted us recently in the changing of a back tire.

The skill we imparted stood him in good stead a short time later when he was on a short trip.

Although his buggy had four new tires, a stray nail found its way into one of them. And that was that.

So there in the snow Bill tried to recall exactly what we had done.

It worked out fine, too, up to a point.

He first put the jack under the rear bumper, as we had done and began hoisting away.

The only trouble was that his flat tire was on the front. He had only been checked out on a rear tire with us.

But he proved to have been a good student and quickly adapted himself to the situation. He moved the jack to the front without mishap.

There is a moral to this someplace. But we can't think of it right now.

WEST VALLEY AMERICAN LEGION post which is made up of members mainly from Campbell and Los Gatos wants to take a more extensive part in community activities, REX KABER, the commander, reports.

But Rex also adds that the post is sort of stymied because of the lack of new blood in the organization. The burden for new projects falls on the shoulders of the old-timers which often proves just too much of a load for them.

For example, Kaber points out, the post recently explored the possibility of sponsoring an American Legion baseball team.

For years the Legion on a nationwide scale sponsored baseball teams made up of high school youngsters. It has proved to be a worthwhile project. The local posts sponsor teams in a league and the winners go on to playoffs.

Rex and the members of the post studied a long time before rejecting the project. They felt that the responsibility was just too heavy for the present membership.

They indicated, however, that, if those eligible for membership but who are not now members would take an interest in the organization, not only would the post be able to sponsor a ball team but could take an active part in many other community events.

We certainly appreciate the post's problem. But we have no solution other than wishful thinking.

BACK ON THE JOB- William Wren, acting head of the city's public works department, on Monday night made his first appearance at a City Council meeting in more than three months. Wren was seriously injured in an automobile accident early in the afternoon on Christmas Eve and spent several months in a hospital.

City expands departments

Two main concerns of the city, parks and streets, will be separated under a new reorganization program that the city is putting into effect, City Manager Robert Stephens reported this week.

Stephens said that LeRoy Black, veteran city employee who has been superintendent of public works, will head the division of parks under the new arrangement.

The city plans to employ a superintendent of streets to head the ambitious program for street maintenance and improvement that the city plans to put into effect beginning with the next fiscal year.

Both the parks and street divisions will be under the supervision of Bill Wren, acting director of public works.

Stephens explained that the expansion was necessary because of the pressing need for the development in these two areas of city services.

He said that the park development includes the maintenance of Campbell and Virginia parks, and the future improvement of both Rincon and the newly-acquired seven-acre site on Los Gatos Creek.

The new head of the street department, Stephens said, will be a qualified expert on street equipment, construction and maintenance. He said that the city is now advertising for such a man. The monthly salary range for the new job will be $677 to $822.

The city manager added that for the past few years, the city has been concerned primarily with new street construction but the need for maintenance and improvement of established streets has become of paramount importance.

Three public hearings will highlight the City Council meeting next Monday, April 26.

The Council is expected to act on the new ordinance which prohibits the conversion of any residence into a business or office.

Action on this matter was deferred last meeting because a full council was not present. Council members are divided on the issue and a 3-2 vote is expected on the adoption of the ordinance, as was the case in the preliminary hearings.

The Council is also expected to act on the appeal of Fred Schallich for a variance for a parking and sideyard setback for a commercial building at San Tomas Aquino Road and Campbell Ave. The Planning Commission denied the variance after several preliminary skirmishes.

was declared last year in the final heated minutes of the ball game(?) Brays of protest from the city employees rent the air when Merv Nelson, of the C of Cees, thwarted in his efforts to get his steed to move, picked up the mount and staggered home to gain a questionable and disputed 4-3 win.

A large crowd attended last year's battle. There is ample room for spectators on the grassy outfields, committee members maintain.

Before the game the crowd will be entertained from 6 to 6:30 by two young folk singers, Tom Holwerda and Jim Fletcher. The duo is called "The Unrelated Singers".

Both Holwerda, 18, who plays the guitar and sings with Fletcher, 17, are high school seniors and hope folk-singing will help them through college.

College board buys 32 acres

West Valley Junior College trustees have approved the purchase of 32 acres of land for the college Saratoga campus for just under $10,000 an acre. The property was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. George W. Day of Saratoga for $319,000.

Following the purchase, Robert H. Dwyer, of Saratoga, who had filed a complaint in the superior court seeking to enjoin the district from further land purchases, withdrew his suit.

The complaint had contended that the trustees would have to pay an exorbitant price for the land, probably in excess of $20,000 per acre.

Horseshoe pitch on Saturday

The Los Gatos Horseshoe Club will host the First Annual Santa Clara Valley Horseshoe Roundup on Saturday, April 24 beginning at 1 p.m. in Oak Meadow Park, Los Gatos.

All valley horseshoe enthusiasts are invited to come and pitch. New regulation horseshoes will be awarded to winning guests in equalized round-robin competition. Only pitchers not in a horseshoe club may compete.

According to Cal Childress, President of the Los Gatos Club, it isn't necessary to be an expert to compete in this stake bending event, and novice and beginning pitchers are especially welcome.

Dishes stolen

Edward Silva, 1043 McBain Ave., reported to Campbell Police the theft of a 96 piece set of bone china from his home while he and his wife were away on a vacation. The china was brand new and had not been unpacked. It was stored in the closet of the master bedroom.

Police surmised entrance to the house was made by forcing the lock on the sliding glass doors.

Three Campbell High senior girls win Optimist Club cosmetology scholarships

Three senior girls at Camden High this week were announced as winners of the cosmetology scholarships offered by the Campbell Optimist Club, according to Frank Linane, contest chairman.

The girls are Andrea Kay Gibson, of 868 Sweetbriar Drive, Campbell; Eleanor May Myers, of 14272 Bercaw Lane, San Jose; and Lynda Evelyn Schmitz, of 4357 Esther Drive, San Jose.

Last week the three Campbell high winners were announced. They were, Maria Bryand, 101 Harrison, Campbell; Sheryl Howell, 49 E. Rincon, Campbell, and Kristie Dowling, 1436 Antonio Lane, San Jose. The essays of the Campbell High winners, appear in this issue.

In next week's issue of The Press the winners from Westmont High will be announced.

Winners were chosen on the basis of essays submitted by senior girls at each school on "Why I choose cosmetology as my profession". The winners will be given full scholarships at the Campbell Beauty College valued at $426 each.

KRISTIE DOWLING

COSMETOLOGY AS MY CAREER--WHY?

For several years I have been interested in becoming a hairdresser. The reasons for my choice are many. The main reason is that it offers a chance to be creative. I have also enjoyed working with hair and seem to have a "knack" for it.

This is a job in which I would be dealing with a great number of people, and I am sure I would enjoy it. This job would not only benefit others, but I am sure I could benefit from it personally.

This is a field in which there is limitless opportunities, and one in which a woman can quickly, without too much experience, open her own business.

This scholarship would enable me to continue my education directly after high school graduation, which I feel is the best time for further schooling. It would also make it possible for me to go into the field of my choosing.

MARIA BRYAND

"I CHOSE COSMETOLOGY AS MY PROFESSION"

Not until the beginning of my senior year did I make my decision as to the type of future occupation I was going into. I chose cosmetology mostly because of its short ten month course. Cosmetology would be a fast way of getting a good job which would enable me to help my family with the household bills.'

Among other reasons than just getting a good job which pays good, I also chose it because of the personal satisfaction I will get.

I enjoy working with other people's hair and creating new hair-dos. I also enjoy working with other people and meeting new people. All this is a lot of fun for me. I know that new and different experiences will be in store for me from day to day. Cosmetology will certainly not be a monotonous type of a job.

In the process of creating new hair-dos I will be using my mind and hands as well.

At the present I am working toward getting a scholarship which will help me through cosmetology school.

Maria Bryand

SHERYL HOWELL

WHY HAVE I CHOSEN COSMETOLOGY AS MY PROFESSION?

I have been interested in cosmetology since the eighth grade, and over the years my interests have grown. I enjoy working with cosmetics and hair and trying new styles. It is a profession that will be very rewarding I feel because of the joy it brings to others. While it is a field that will not very probably be out dated.

In the field of Cosmetology a person is able to further herself as far as she has the will. And I am in hopes of learning all phases of this profession that I can. Cosmetology is a demanding field where one does not have to worry about unemployment, but also one can stop to raise a family and still work while raising them or continue after the family is raised. I am in hopes of one day owning my own shop or working with Television and Motion Pictures.

Cancer crusade gets underway

Some 20,000 volunteers today were making final preparations for a house-to-house canvass or mass mailing to all parts of Santa Clara County as the annual crusade of the American Cancer Society got under way. It will continue through the month of April.

In addition to the crusade for funds, the volunteers will distribute literature in the public education drive against this disease which will claim the lives of an estimated 295,000 Americans this year.

The crusade officially got under way this week with a kick-off dinner at Lou's Village restaurant, when Dennis Morgan, Hollywood film star and singer, was the honored guest and speaker.

The residential canvass throughout the county will be held on April 21 and 22, following the Easter holidays. The county goal for the crusade is $110,500, compared to $103,000 subscribed last year.

San Jose State College seeks oldest graduate

Do you remember when the California State Normal School became San Jose State Normal School, way back in 1887?

If you do, you might be just the person the San Jose State College Alumni Association is looking for.

SJS Golden Grade and the Alumni Association are combing the Bay area in an effort to find the oldest living graduate of the earliest class year.

The big search is in preparation for the Golden Grad luncheon, scheduled for May 8.

Golden Grads are alumni of SJS who have been graduated 50 years or more. There are currently about 1200 members of this exclusive corps.

MRS. BETTY BRANNAN

PROMOTED--Two new promotions have been announced on the business staff of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District. Mrs. Betty Brannan (left) has been named assistant business manager. Reginald Brown (standing) has been promoted to supervisor of accounts. C. E. Bradley (right) is business manager of the district.

Mrs. Brannan is given CUSD promotion

A well-earned promotion has come to Mrs. Betty Brannan, who has been with the Campbell Union School District since 1952. She has been named Assistant Business Manager for the school district. Hired as a secretary by Business Manager C. E. Bradley, she has been promoted several times in the last thirteen years through hard work and outstanding capabilities.

Her duties have increased steadily since 1959, according to Bradley. For the past year and a half she has been not only purchasing agent for the district, but has had charge of warehousing and distribution of all supplies. She also is office manager, laying out the work for the other employees in the business department. She handles the student insurance program, and is in charge of all inventories for the district.

Bradley says "As my pressures in my own job have increased, I have dropped one duty after another into her lap. She has absolutely earned this promotion."

Before coming to the Campbell School District, Mrs. Brannan prepared for this work by earning a degree in business administration with a major in mathematics at the University of Michigan.

During the war years, while her husband was overseas, she was assistant purchasing agent for the YMCA in San Francisco. She and her husband, Bill, live at 15204 Dickens Avenue in the Cambrian Park area. They have three children, two daughters and a son. This mother of three children has probably the best record of attendance at her job in the district, says Bradley. Her husband is an installer for a formica company.

Asked to comment on her promotion, Mrs. Brannan observed that all this work really is not a hardship, because the increases in responsibility have come so gradually that they have not been burdensome.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

In Eighth Grade Civics we learned that Members of the House of Representatives represented people directly; were close to them and knew their thoughts and needs. Senators represented a broader and less provincial view, an entire state. Together they made up a cross section of America, the Legislative Branch--a co-equal Branch of government. Under this system of division of power and checks and balances, America developed greatness.

When I started my career as a legislator in January of 1951, the system was as I had learned it to be. But now, more than fourteen years later, it has changed and so has the national attitude toward our system.

Today, a Congress is judged by the percentage of an Administration's program it enacts into law. If it insists upon debate, dissent, the right to disagree and the time to deliberate, it is accused of being dilatory. On the other hand, if it is subservient and methodically wields the rubber stamp upon each Administration proposal, it stands as a testimonial to the skill of the Executive in handling a recalcitrant Congress.

In a desire to transfer the responsibility for meeting the frustrations of modern life to one man, more and more of our people are placidly accepting this erosion of our system of checks and balances. Interest in things political is fanned to white heat in each Presidential year. Then the tendency is to settle back for another three and a half years, relieved of responsibility and expecting one man, not a directly elected Congress, to solve the nation's problems.

The erosion of checks and balances has been underway through both Democratic and Republican Administrations, so my feelings are not partisan. I would not berate the excellent success which President Johnson has enjoyed with Congress. In fact, I feel about it much as Jack Dempsey must have felt toward Gene Tunney when he was losing his championship to him--he couldn't help but admire Gene's skill even though he couldn't thoroughly enjoy it.

If in the future we are to delegate the policy-making function of this nation only once every four years, we must accept the inevitable result that debate, discussion, dissent, and compromise will tend to be compressed to the period of Presidential campaigns. And the quality of our checks and balances will be in direct proportion to the quality of the campaign.

Speaking realistically, and perhaps too bluntly, very few Americans of either party were satisfied with the last Presidential campaign. It did not deal with issues but instead hinged upon personalities and psychology. It did little to stimulate or reflect national thinking.

Herein lies the danger in looking toward one man to formulate national policy instead of allowing it to evolve from a system of checks and balances. If the more attractive image on television happens to belong to a man who is qualified to single-handedly determine our policy, we are lucky. But will we always be lucky?

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF
HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. I have been told that a person can earn as much as he wishes after he reaches age 72 and still receive his social security payments. Is this true?

A. Yes. However, his total yearly earnings during the year of his 72nd birthday can affect any benefits he may be entitled to receive for the months before his 72nd birthday. For more specific details about how this works, call, write or visit your Social Security Office.

Q. How soon after a person becomes disabled should he get in touch with a Social Security Office to do what is necessary to protect his rights under the disability provisions of the Social Security Law?

A. The law provides a six-month waiting period before disability insurance benefits can begin, but a disabled person should get in touch with our office about four months after the disability began, so that the first steps can be taken.

Q. I have been receiving social security benefits for myself and three children since my husband died. One of the children (age 16) is getting married next month. Must I report her marriage?

A. The marriage must be reported as it will terminate this child's entitlement to benefits on her father's account. Be sure to show her name and claim number, which is your deceased husband's social security number followed by the letter "C".

Q. My son is receiving a benefit on his deceased father's account. He will be 18 in December. However, he is disabled and cannot work. Will his benefits stop when he reaches 18?

A. Children's benefits cease when the child reaches age 18, unless the child has a disability that began before age 18. If it is established that your son is totally disabled, his benefits would be continued. You should visit your Social Security Office to inquire about filing a special application. Be sure to take along the claim number under which he is presently receiving benefits.

Q. I plan to retire this year. I was 65 on January 15, 1964. When should I file for social security payments?

A. You should file your application now, so there will not be any delay in receiving your checks after you retire.

Phone company reports on new rate schedule

A new offering for residential telephone customers is now under study by Pacific Telephone as part of its pending proposal to expand local calling areas in San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles and San Diego areas, the company reported to the California Public Utilities Commission.

Under the proposal a customer would have one-party service for which he would pay $3.00 to $3.20, depending on where he lived, for up to 20 calls per month, with no time limit on the duration of the calls. Each additional call within his local calling area, which would be enlarged under the plan, would cost twice the rate for a regular local measured service call.

The service would be offered only in San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles and San Diego extended calling areas.

The new offering would be part of the Pacific Telephone plan to expand local calling areas in San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles and San Diego, for an increased monthly rate while eliminating multi-message unit charges in San Francisco-East Bay and Los Angeles. The basic plan, which resulted from a study requested by the Commission, was presented in January.

At public hearings on the Company's proposal, many people said it did not provide for persons who telephone infrequently but who want one-party service.

Pot luck

Star Circle, Order of Eastern Star, Campbell chapter, will hold a pot luck luncheon, Friday, April 23, at noon, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Kennon, 12280 Country Squire Lane, San Jose.

Campbell holds novel ceremony

Delighted greetings by friends who hadn't seen one another for years, and liberal helpings of warn sentiment and lively historical anecdotes combined to make a memorable afternoon at the former Campbell Grammar School building Monday.

The occasion was the public cornerstone-unlaying ceremony arranged to honor the public-spirited citizens of an earlier Campbell who had the foresight and enterprise to plan and finance the Campbell Grammar School at a time when their community was limited to farming and canning for industry, and far from wealthy.

Mayor Charles Rose, who attended Campbell Grammar School and contributed one of his coins in a small purse sealed in the cornerstone box, said at the ceremony that "Those people didn't have as much going for them as we have today in this fastgrowing area. They should be commended for putting over a bond issue to achieve this facility prior to 1922. This was a terrific advancement to the community."

Campbell Union School District Superintendent Wm. C. Henley, who acted as master of ceremonies for the program, said he would like to consider the entire affair a "tribute to our forebears, who established the cornerstone June 10, 1922." The building was occupied in the winter of 1922-3. The February 22, 1922 date on the plaque, Superintendent Henley believes represents the date the board of trustees entered into a contract for construction of the building.

Mrs. Royce came down from her home in Walnut Creek for the occasion, and Mrs. Sutter - now principal of Campbell Elementary School came along with her school glee club, who entertained during the program.

Contents of the cornerstone displayed at the "unlaying" ceremony included a copy of the Mercury Herald of June 10, 1922; copies of the Campbell Press of June 9 and July 22, 1921 - the latter with a photo of the proposed school. There also were clippings from both newspapers relating to the school construction and financing. The Oakland Tribune of June 9 was tightly folded into the metal box. There were several forms of the educational tests then in use, a key to these scaled for problems in arithmetic, a copy of minutes of the Board of Trustees of May 10 relating to the school, and a teachers' certificate of registration in the National Education Association.

A season ticket (for one dollar) to admit one person to the Radcliffe Chatauqua was there, along with a group of class photographs, some with names on the back. A manual of the public schools of Santa Clara County with Helps for the Teacher - what would now be called a curriculum guide. This contained some advice for children then or now on a page opened by chance, introducing seventh grade civics.

There was a small lady's or child's handkerchief, a small ribbon bow, a coin purse with a few coins, a School Directory of Santa Clara County, and a poem by Edgar Guest. A certificate from Near East Relief acknowledged $15.85 contributed by the school to help Lead the Good Ship that carried food to the orphan children of the Near East.

A Roster of Charity Lodge 362, Free and Accepted Masons, was there because William A. Sherman, grand master of the F. A. M., laid the cornerstone.

There was a little book called Songs of Our Country.

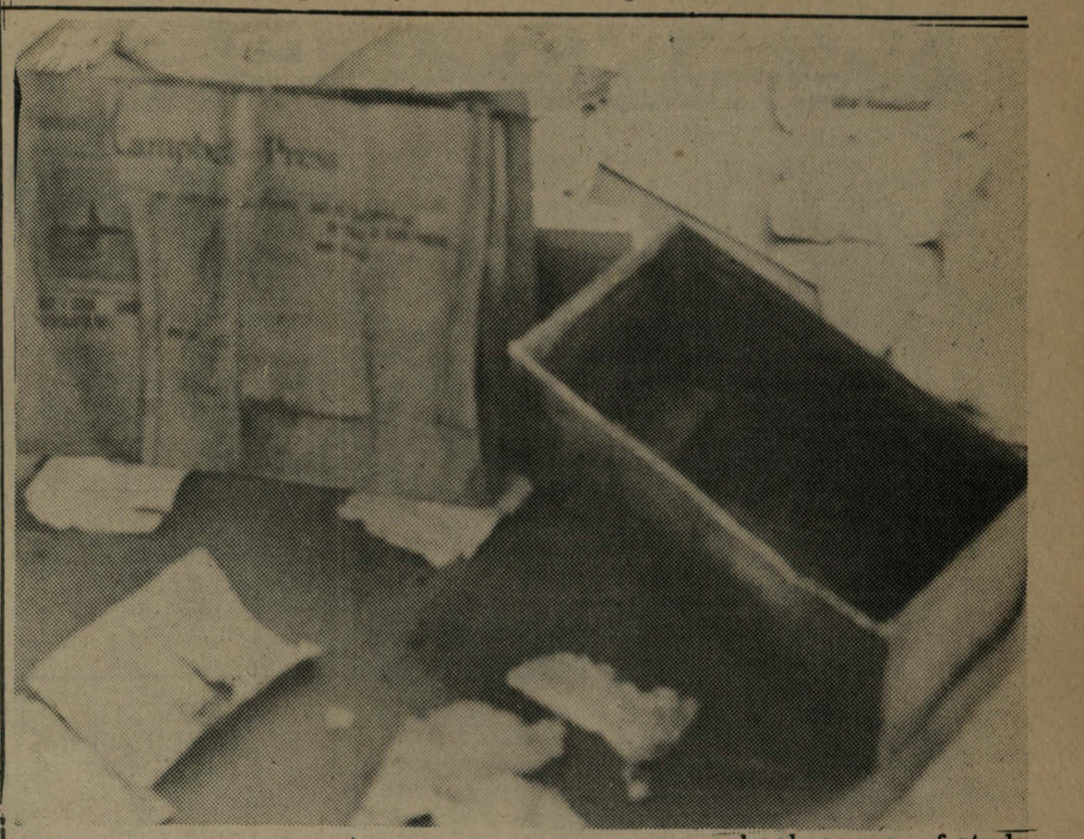
In the spirit of that thought, The Campbell Grammar School Glee Club sang "Grandfather's Clock," along with "Do-Re-Mi" from Sound of Music. Miss Carol Eason conducted.

Grady Lewis of West Valley College played a solo - Vivaldi's "Natchez Concerto," accompanied by a WVC instructor, Mrs. Dorothy Jewell.

Besides some reminiscences by Campbell Elementary School student body president Mark Luoto, who formerly attended Campbell Grammar School, and by West Valley College Trustee Robert Brydon, who attended from kindergarten through the eighth grade, there was a talk on "Historical Sidelights of Campbell" by San Jose City Historian Clyde Arbuckle.

Arbuckle told quite a bit about Benjamin Campbell, who founded the town. Adelbert Campbell, Benjamin's grandson, attended the program.

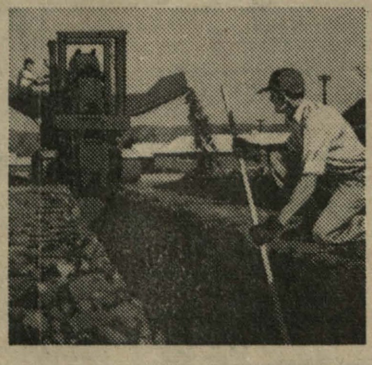
DRY RUN--Superintendent William C. Henley looks over the water-logged contents of the cornerstone of the old Campbell Grammar School that was put in place in 1922. After drying out the contents were placed on display in the auditorium of the school, now occupied by West Valley College.



STILL READABLE (after a fashion)-- One of the items in the casket of the cornerstone of the Campbell Grammar School that was removed this week in a novel cornerstone unlaying ceremony was a copy of The Campbell Press of June 9, 1922, the day before the cornerstone was put in place. The editor was Harry C. Smith and the issue was Vol. 27, No. 50. The last paragraph of the news story in that issue reported: "Wtihin the Casket will be placed issues and clippings of the Campbell Press bearing on the building of the new school, course of study and directory of Santa Clara County Schools, names and pictures of pupils and teachers, and other articles of value to posterity as historical mementos." Because of the water seeping into the box, many of the items placed there 43 years ago had disintegrated.

TAKE PART--Left to right, Robert Brydon, West Valley College trustee and a former student of the old Campbell Grammar School; Mayor Charles Rose, also a former student and Superintendent William C. Henley, who will retire this June after serving more than 20 years as the district chief. They all spoke at the cornerstone unlaying ceremony.

WHAT'S DOING?



Safeguarding your service is one of our most important jobs. That's why telephone men always keep an eye out for large scale construction projects and other hazards which might damage underground or overhead telephone lines. You, too, can help protect your service (and your neighbors'), by watching out for buried cable next time you have occasion to use digging equipment on your property. Better yet, if you or your contractor have any questions, give our Repair Service a ring before you dig. We'll be glad to show you where our underground cables are.

"Happy Birthday" may not be sung on the Bell Telephone Hour this month, but well it could be. This month the show—the nation's longest-lived nighttime network program—celebrates its 25th year of providing outstanding musical entertainment—first on radio, then on television since 1959. It can be seen every other Tuesday at 10 p.m. on the NBC network.

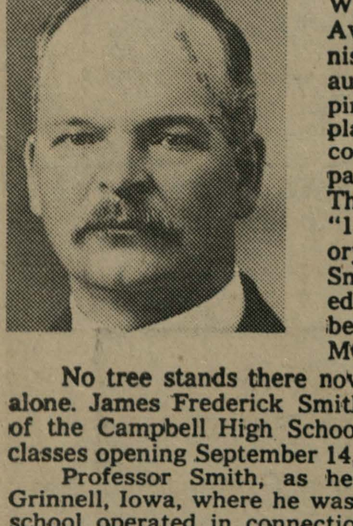
CAMPBELL HISTORICAL NOTES
"A plaque that stands alone"



On the Campbell High School campus, corner of Winchester and Campbell Avenues, next to the tennis court and west of the auditorium, where once a pine tree grew, lies a plaque on a granite stone, commemorating a little part of Campbell history. The plaque simply states "1900-1912. To the memory of James Frederick Smith, this pine is dedicated by the alumni of Campbell Union High School. MCMXII"

No tree stands there now - - - the plaque stands alone. James Frederick Smith was the first principal of the Campbell High School District, with the first classes opening September 14, 1900.

Professor Smith, as he was known, was from Grinnell, Iowa, where he was the principal of the high school operated in connection with the Grinnell College. As a friend of the Cutting and Cooper families, early Campbell settlers who were also from Grinnell, he was asked to come and organize a high school in Campbell.

One of the little known facts about his life was that he was instrumental in influencing President Theodore Roosevelt to stop in Campbell on his 1903 Western tour. During this visit the President planted the famed Roosevelt Redwood Tree at the corner of Winchester and Campbell Avenues. The tree stump was recently moved to Vasona Park just off Highway 17 where it is flourishing and sending forth new shoots.
